"WE have heard nothing but praise for the program, and I think if a survey were to be taken the show would rank somewhere up there with Perry Como or Ed Sullivan," commented the general manager of CHSJ-TV, Saint John, N.B.

He made a good guess. According to the Teleratings Report of Elliot-Haynes Ltd., the show did rank "up there" with Como and Sullivan; in fact it was found to have more viewers than either. In Halifax it placed only one point below both shows.

The program is The Don Messer Show, which comes into Canadian homes from coast to coast this Friday on television—as it has been doing for over a quarter century on radio. The half hour of hornpipes, jigs, reels, and Maritime-style country songs will replace Country Hoedown for the rest of the summer.

November 16, 1956, marked a milestone in the career of Don Messer and His Islanders. It was on that date that the famous Charlottetown fiddler and his group, solidly entrenched in radio, "took the plunge" and embarked on a series of 26 weekly television programs from CHBT in Halifax. Judging by the comments of the hundreds of viewers who phoned and wrote the station after the first show, the transfer to TV was a most successful and happy one.

The Don Messer story goes back to the year 1930 when a quiet little man left his job in a Boston five-and-dime store and returned to his native New Brunswick to begin a career as a professional musician. He went to Saint John and formed a small old-time band which was soon broadcasting regularly over station CBFO. For several years the group remained nameless, continuing to broadcast—and to expand.

In 1934 Messer was introduced to a happy-go-lucky lumberjack by the name of Charlie Chamberlain who hailed (as Charlie put it) "from the woods." The meeting was arranged by a Saint John businessman who had heard the hefty woodsman picking out tunes on a guitar and singing in the smoker on a train. Charlie auditioned at the radio station, warbling a ditty called Lonesome Valley Sally. He has been with Don Messer ever since.

The group was called the New Brunswick Lumberjacks in the mid-thirties. It became a favourite for sportsmen's shows in Boston and New York, and toured the eastern U.S. theatre and nightclub circuit. A group from the Lumberjacks was formed to go on the CBC radio network in 1938; the program was called Backwoods Breakdown.

The next year station CFCY in Charlottetown invited Messer to move to Prince Edward Island and set up an old-time band there. So the Messer and Chamberlain families (10 souls in all) went to the island province and formed the Islanders, making their first appearance on November 11, 1939.

Despite many tempting offers to forsake Prince Edward Island, Don Messer and His Islanders have confined their wanderings to short tours in Canada. For example, in 1956 they ventured as far west as Alberta, playing before packed houses in Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, and Hamilton.

The Islanders' Saturday radio program usually originates from Charlottetown, P.E.I.; occasionally it is broadcast from another maritime location if they happen to be "on the road." The group travels weekly to Halifax for its television show—40 miles from Charlottetown to the Northumberland Strait, across the Strait (14 miles) by ferry, then 200 miles to Halifax.

Not the least of Don Messer's accomplishments is the composition of many well-known tunes, among them the well-known Operator's Reel, Messer's Break-

July 29 on CBK

Special Broadcast Marks Two Decades of Service

R. H. Roberts, manager of the CBC's Regina studios, has announced that the prime minister, Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker, will speak on the special broadcast marking the 20th anniversary of CBK.

The program, to be broadcast at 7:30 p.m. MDT Wednesday, July 29, from the Regina Exhibition, will also include brief messages from Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, J. R. Finlay, CBC's Director for the Prairie Provinces, and R. D. Cahoon, prairie regional engineer (and one of the original CBK staff members).

A special feature of the anniversary broadcast will be excerpts from a recording of the inaugural broadcast which included addresses by the premiers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta (Hon. John Bracken, Hon. W. J. Patterson, and Hon. W. Aberhart), Leonard Brockington (then chairman of the CBC Board of Governors), and Hon. C. D. Howe. The announcer on that inaugural broadcast, John Kannawin, now director of radio operations for Ontario, has also agreed to speak on the anniversary program.

Mr. Finlay, as head of the prairie region for 15 of the station's 20 years, has been personally and intimately associated with the service rendered by CBK to listeners in Saskatchewan. He will recall some of the highlights of that period and discuss the continuing and future significance of CBK in the life of the province.

From 1939 until 1948 the CBK transmitter at Watrous served the entire prairie region as the only CBC transmitter in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Since 1948, when 50,000-watt transmitters were built in Manitoba and Alberta the principal role of CBK has been to serve the people of Saskatchewan.

On the Cover

Shirley Shaw

Regina-born vocalist Shirley Shaw is guest on two CBC network programs this week — The Show That Jack Built (Tuesday night on television), and Music by McMullin (Wednesday afternoon on radio).

The petite, light brunette, blue-eyed singer came to Winnipeg in 1955, when she was transferred by her employer—CNR Telegraphs—from Regina. She is now a stewardess for TCA.

Shirley studied singing at the Regina Conservatory while at grade school. In high school she played in the school band. She has sung on both radio and television in Regina, including a 22-week series on CKCK-TV produced by Neil Harris, now of CBC Winnipeg. In Winnipeg she has been seen on many television programs (Cabaret, Easter Seal Show, Moods in Music, etc.), is one of the regular vocalists on Music by McMullin, and has done some night club work.

On Music by McMullin this Wednesday Shirley will repeat, by request, a song which she wrote herself—Simply Because.

Brandt is challenged to a duel by Anne's boy friend Lieut. John Wynham. As the duel is about to begin, Brandt slumps to the floor, felled by an attack of apoplexy brought on by fear.

New Voices

On Musical Quiz

Two new voices are currently being heard on Who's the Composer? Tuesday mornings on CBW, CBK and CBX.

Violet Archer and Helmut Blume, who are on holiday, have been replaced by Dorothy Morton and Christopher Gledhill.

Dorothy Morton is a Montrealer and graduate of the Provincial Conservatory of Music. She teaches piano at the McGill Conservatory and has been frequently heard on CBC radio as a soloist. Christopher Gledhill was born in England and is a graduate of Cambridge University. He is organist at Montreal's Church of St. James the Apostle.

The third member of the panel, composer Jean Papineau-Couture, and moderator Eugene Kash will remain with the program during the summer.

Thursday on "Explorations"

Portrait of Nikita Khrushchev

First of four "Portraits of Power." Later—Lloyd George, Tito, and Moa Tse-Tung

ALL OF THEM (in their own way) were revolutionaries, all were nationalists, all represented heresies, and all achieved great personal power. There was one important difference: three achieved that power by breaking heads, one by counting them.

The CBC-TV presents four Portraits of Power Thursdays on Explorations, starting this week.

They are:

- Portrait of Nikita Khrushchev, August 6;
- Portrait of David Lloyd George, August 13;
- Portrait of Josip Broz-Tito, August 20;
- Portrait of Mao Tse-Tung, August 27.

Huw Wheldon, who produced this series for the BBC, also produced the earlier BBC Portraits of Power, shown on CBC-TV some time ago, which included portraits of Hitler and Ghandi.

The career of Nikita Khrushchev shows how relative are orthodoxy and heresy. Khrushchev joined the Communist Party in 1915 when the Marxist-Leninist line was being hewn, presumably giving it his allegiance. He rose to great power under Stalin, presumably also giving Stalin his allegiance. Now he has reached full power within the party, denying his Stalin, and exercising the heretical cult of the personality.

Portraits of Power begins with Khrushchev as Party boss in Moscow in the 1930's and moves on to his year as Prime Minister and First Secretary of the Communist Party in the Ukraine. His handling of this potential trouble spot firmly established him as a strong man destined for great heights. Finally, the program shows Khrushchev as he is today.

One speaker on Khrushchev's Portrait is Marshall MacDuffie, an American lawyer who was head of UNNRA in the Ukraine after the war. The two men got on very well from the start and MacDuffie regards Khrushchev as a personal friend. Cyril Osborne, British M.P., tells of a long interview he had with Khrushchev in Moscow the day after the launching of the first Sputnik. Another speaker is an anonymous Ukrainian student who saw Khrushchev in action in 1939 when Russia annexed the Ukraine from Poland.

Films used in the program came from many sources and involved much research. For instance, the production team spent hours looking through old Russian films found in a cellar in Soho and finally came up with three quick glimpses of Khrushchev in a film made in 1937.

Like Khrushchev, Tito (born Josip Broz) was once a Stalin man, unlike Khrushchev, Tito defied his leader before the leader died. The story goes back to April, 1915 when Tito, a soldier in the Hapsburg armies, was captured by the Russians. He was still in Russia two years later, aged 25, when the Russian revolution broke out. When he returned to his native land in 1920, he went with memories of people of his own peasant-labouring class taking over power. Tito had become a communist.

Many weary years followed when to everybody but Tito himself the cause in Yugoslavia seemed hopeless. In 1928 the Royal Yugoslav police jailed Tito for six years. He used the time to acquire the formal education he had largely missed. When he came out of jail in 1934, he was a much more dangerous man.

By 1937 Stalin recognized Tito as a top man. Moscow decided to hurry his promotion. The Secretary-General and other ranking members of the Yugoslav communist party were summoned to Russia and shot. Tito got the job of reorganizing the illegal Party. He did so by moving Party Headquarters from the safety of foreign countries back to Yugoslavia itself. The move paid off when war came and Tito quickly raised an army. He not only drove the Germans from his country, he gained full political control from his opponents.

What caused Tito's defection from Stalinism and his consequent expulsion from the Comintern? In general terms, of course, the answer is fairly clear. Having won independence from German occupation and substituted a communist society all with comparatively little outside aid, the Yugoslavs were not happy to take orders even from Moscow.

"The Yugoslav brand of communism had its origins in the hills and forests," Tito once said, "and was not imported ready-made from Moscow."

With the support of the vast majority of his people—even non-communists preferred Tito to Moscow—he withstood Stalin's reported threat, "I will lift my little finger and there will be no more Tito."

PROGRAM NOTES

AUGUST 2

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information.

Good Life Theatre

This week—"The Sin of Sue Bradley." A jealous wife, whose jealousy has driven her to distraction visits her pastor for help.

Astronomy Today

With Dr. F. A. Kaempffer, professor of physics at the University of British Columbia. (CBC Vancouver film).

CBWT—Premiere

"Heures de visites" ("Visiting Hours") a comedy by D. S. Daniels, translated and adapted by Claude Fournier. Daniels' aim in writing his play was to make fun of these well-meaning inveterate hospital visitors who succeed only in sending a near-recovered patient into a decline. Cast includes Jean-Louis Paris, Guy Feron, André Pagé, Sacha Tarride, Fernande Larivière, Lucille Cousineau, Michèle Dery, Margot Campbell and Pierre Boucher. Gerard Chapdelaine, producer. (CBC Montreal film).

CBWT—Serenade Estivale

French musical program conducted by Jean Deslauriers. This week's guests are soprano Yolande Dulude and the Arthur Romano saxophone quartet. Selections to be heard include "Humoresque" (Dvorak), "Love, Your Spell is Everywhere," "Serenata" (Anderson), "Stairway to the Stars," "Prelude and Fugue à la Américaine (Michel Perrault), "I Get a Kick Out of You" (Cole Porter), "Temptation," and "This is My Beloved."

Newsmagazine

Norman DePoe presents filmed highlights of the week's national and international news. From Toronto.

Bob Cummings Show

Comedy series starring Bob Cummings as a bachelor photographer. This week—"Bob Ages Margaret," Bob Collins fears his sister is showing signs of age and his efforts to help her cost him a "lost night."

Father Knows Best

Comedy series starring Robert Young and Jane Wyatt. This week—"Betty's Cause," Betty asks a crotchety old man to perform a public service by cutting down his hedge which obscure drivers' vision at a dangerous intersection.

December Bride

Comedy series starring Spring Byington. Lily and Peter glorify life in the Marine Corps to get Pete's parasitic brother-in-law to leave town.

Rhapsody

Tonight, on this sixth program of the series—the music and dance of the West Indies and the East Indies. Included in the program will be a limbo dance from the West Indies, danced by Trinidadian Hera Dickson; a Manipuri dance from the East, and a ritual temple dance known as Kathakali. Featured dancers include Charlotte de Neve, Garbut Roberts and Paul Pettiford. There will also be a steel band and a calypso song sung by Rudolf Camacho. Host is Jan Rubes and the chorus and orchestra are directed by Ivan Romanoff. From Toronto.

The World's Stage

True drama series introduced by Dr. Frank Baxter. Novel appeal mystery writer Mary Roberts Rinehart while seeking a plot for a new book, heard of the famous murders aboard the schooner Herbert Fuller and interviews the man convicted for the crime. Convinced of his innocence she wrote a thriller, "The After House," based on the case. The novel had such an impact that the case was re-opened; the real murderer discovered, and the unjustly imprisoned man was set free.

Playhouse U.K.

"The Widower," a murder drama by Cyril Campion, adapted for television by Robert Hall, produced in England for ABC by Sydney Newman (formerly of CBC), and directed by Wilfred Eades. The cast stars Kenneth Hyde and Maggie Smith, with John Cairns, David Douglas Blackwell, Janet Smith and John Miller. (More information for the possible assistance of murder mystery fans is in the box to the right).

Long Shot

Guests tonight will be five well-known wrestlers—Lord Athol Layton, Yukon Eric, Ricky Starr, Gene Kinisky and Donald H. (Hardboiled) Haggerty. They will discuss what Long Shot production staff refers to as "Problems of Mid-Century Mankind." Other guests will be: the husband and wife singing team of Jackie Kane and Roy Kral ("Spring Really

Sunday on "Long Shot"

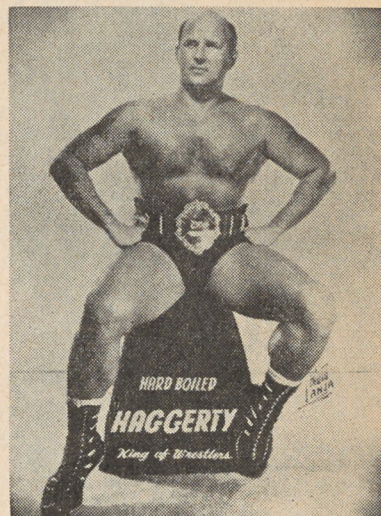

Wrestling with the Future

Five distinguished proponents of the mat come to grips with "the problems of mid-century mankind"

Mankind at the middle of this century stands at the centre of the crossroads—with a mushroom cloud overhead. That cloud could descend to smother us in its funeral shroud, or it could split like a doughnut to let the warm sunshine through.

In the world of art, nihilism has firmly planted its destructive feet; perhaps we can negate that nihilism, perhaps we can't. Perhaps too we can negate the positivism of science or positivize the negation of Marxism.

All these are problems which face mankind. Only time will solve these and many similar problems—time and Lord Athol Layton, Yukon Eric, Hardboiled Haggerty, Ricky Starr and Gene Kinisky, five wrestlers who will discuss "problems of mid-century mankind" on Long Shot Sunday on CBC-TV.

Other guests on this show are singer Jackie Kane and Roy Kral (Spring Really Hangs You Up the Most and You Smell So Good) who are scheduled to open in Las Vegas the following day.

More Than One Mystery

The most mysterious thing about The Widower—this Sunday's murder mystery on Playhouse U.K.—is the program note supplied for it. For the benefit of murder mystery fans who might be able to make more of it than we were able to do, here it is, exactly as we received it: Some women fall into the erroneous belief that they are loved when handed a really expensive bracelet or necklace—how many are dazzled and blinded long enough by the sparkle to be led into marriage? By popular superstition pearls are unlucky. But can this possible be true in Paris in the spring? Supposing the pearls are threaded with murder?

The Widower was written by ex-jeweller (perhaps there's a clue there!) Cyril Campion. Canadian viewers will see a film of that production.

Hangs You Up the Most and "You Smell So Good") who are scheduled to open at The Sands in Las Vegas the following day. From Toronto.

Background

Rick Hart examines the factors leading up to current news events. From Toronto.

Royal Visit Review

Lamont Tilden presents the last of 25 filmed programs on the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Canada. Tonight's program will show the royal couple's activities during their last day in Canada—in Halifax.

PROGRAM NOTES

AUGUST 3

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information.

On Safari

This week—"Thirst in Elephant Country." Wildlife photographers Armand and Michaela Denis follow the life of the African elephant and his fight against drought. A mother elephant makes a frantic effort to pull out a baby elephant stuck in a mud hole. There is also a visit to a native village where men have elaborate hair-dos held in place by a mixture of ostrich egg yolk and blue mud, and shots of baby animals (a cheetah, hare and monkey) being bottle fed.

Mickey Mouse Club

Jimmie Fields plays the piano. Cartoon—"Donald's Ostrich." Donald is a station master and receives an odd shipment in a large box. "Argentinian Adventure"—two Argentinian boys show how the gauchos, Argentinian cowboys, train their horses.

CBWT-Scan

Jack Kuper explains work of the CBC graphics department; Eva Langbord, CBC casting director discusses opportunities for performers; radio announcer Elwood Glover talks about his job; and Harvey Dawes interviews Spotlight producer Ted Benoit.

The Millionaire

This week—"Gilbert Burton." A country boy working as a dishwasher in a nightclub courts an entertainer after he receives a million dollars.

The Joan Fairfax Show

This week Joan Fairfax and her all-girl orchestra welcome dancers Irene Apine and Jury Gotshalks of Montreal. From Toronto.

Danny Thomas Show

Comedy series starring Danny Thomas as a New York entertainer. This week—"Terry the Breadwinner."

Cannonball

Canadian film-drama series about a trucker and his family. This week—"Mark Time." A truck driver plants a bomb in Mike's truck. He regrets his action but before he can remove the bomb Mike and Jerry have left on a run.

London Letter

by DR. BOYD NEEL

Dr. Boyd Neel, Dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, is spending the summer in England. Before he left he promised to keep us posted on the musical scene on the other side of the Atlantic. In this second of his "London Letters" he talks about the festivals at Glyndebourne and Cheltenham.

The wonderful weather is making this year's Glyndebourne Festival more enjoyable than ever. A fine evening can make such a difference to this most enchanting of all opera festivals. The actual opera is only a part of the show and the name of the head gardener has appeared for many years on the program as one of the "cast." Certainly this year he has surpassed himself. I never remember the lawns and borders in such perfect condition. I have a very personal interest in this unique institution as I had the privilege of conducting the first performance which ever took place in the theatre, way back in 1934. Little did we think, at that time, of the subsequent world-wide fame it would achieve.

The performances seem to be as good as ever. I have, so far, seen only Così fan tutte and Fidelio. Ore Brouwenstijn made a big hit as the heroine in the latter and we were spared the Leonora No. 3 after the dungeon scene, which I always think ruins the whole balance of the opera when interpolated at this point.

In Così, Gloria Lane was an excellent Dorabella, but Ilva Ligabue could not efface memories of Sena Jurinac, the supreme Fiordiligi of former years. Apparently Rosenkavalier, which I missed, went off splendidly in the small theatre. Everybody I spoke with seemed astonished at its success because there were many prophets of doom before the first night. I still don't know where they put all the players, even if they used the reduced score which Strauss made for Sadlers Wells before the war, but apparently the whole affair bore out Toscanini's famous remark, "Tutto è relativo," apropos of his Meistersinger on the small stage of the Salzburg Festspielhaus. This week we shall have Cenerentola — always one of the best Glyndebourne productions.

Unfortunately I was unable to go to Cheltenham last week and it looks doubtful if I shall manage it during the coming one, so I can only report on what I have heard by radio, tapes, and first-hand information. No masterpiece seems yet to have emerged, but several works have made quite good impressions. One of these is Anthony Milner's Variations for Orchestra which takes a fifteenth century tune for its theme. This is something we must hear again as soon as possible—I hope in Canada.

On another evening, Yfrah Neaman, who played last season with the CBC Symphony, gave the first performance of Arnold Cooke's Violin Concerto. Cooke has certainly Territory community shortly after the civil war, the hour-long drama centres about the unorthodox actions of a sheriff known as El Jefe (The Chief), played by Cobb, who arouses the hostility of a young army officer and the anger of the townspeople when he tries to shield a young Apache Indian accused of participating in a stagecoach robbery and massacre. Skip Homeier co-stars as the young lieutenant who is commanding his first army post since graduating from West Point. Barry Kelly is seen as a rancher, and Carol Thurston plays Rose, proprietress of the town's hotel and a close friend of the sheriff. Also in the cast are Karl Swenson, Edward C. Platt, John Dennis and Vito Scotti. (Trial at Devil's Canyon is a rebroadcast; it was originally seen on January 5).

Some snakes have developed a special organ for the detection of infra-red radiation. That is to say they can sense the heat from the body of a warm-blooded animal. Experiments with rattlesnakes have shown that even though blindfolded and with their nostrils plugged they can strike precisely at a source of heat.—B. B. Boycott, Lecturer in Zoology, University of London, on BBC.

PROGRAM NOTES

AUGUST 4

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information.

World Passport

This week—"Two Boys and a Boat," the second part of a three-part series. The boys borrow a sailing boat and find that it isn't so easy to keep it upright in the water. Also on today's program—"Street of the World." A little boy who lives in the slums of Montreal finds another world when he visits Montreal's dockyards and explores ships from Canada and other lands.

Sky King

Adventure series about a flying rancher. This week—"Showdown." Bob is almost killed when he tries to capture two horse thieves who have stolen five of Sky King's horses.

CBWT-Spotlight

Tonight—another interview in the series from Manitoba towns. Maurice Burchell will interview Dr. and Mrs. Bray, a retired dentist and his wife in Morden.

One Step Beyond

This week—"The Dream." After evacuation at Dunkirk a British home-guard has a strange dream which he cannot explain. John Newland is host.

Chevy Show

Music and comedy, with John Raitt, Janet Blair and their guests.

Focus on Ottawa

First program of a new series dealing with points of interest in and around Canada's capital. Terry Kielty is host for the series. Tonight—the Peace Tower. The program will include an interview with Lt.-Col. W. J. Franklin, sergeant-at-arms in charge of the 53-man staff at the tower, and Robert Donnell, dominion carillonneur. Script is by Edie Houzer, and production by Pierre Normandin.

Norman Brooks Shirley Shaw The Ad Libs

Montreal-born Norman Brooks, brother of jazz-singer Ann Brooks, has appeared in top night clubs in Canada and the U.S. and on the French and English CBC-TV networks. His voice and style are remarkably similar to the late Al Jolson's

Norman
Brooks

Shaw (page 1), and The Altones vocal quartet. Ernest Mutimer, producer. From Winnipeg.

Two For Physics

This week University of Toronto physicists Donald Ivey and Patterson Hume talks about relativity. (See story this page).

CBWT—See - - Hear!

This week—"The Town with a Difference." Life in a Mennonite town, with emphasis on its cultural activities. (CBWT-10:40 p.m.).

For Sale: One Castle

May be seen August 5 on "Bat Masterson" on CBC-TV

The script for this week's story on Bat Masterson called for a castle with a pipe organ, situated in the middle of the desert. Producers Andy White and Frank Pittman came up with what they had thought to be the impossible. They discovered the never-before-filmed Shea's Castle, now called Sky Castle Ranch, in the Mojave desert near Lancaster, 100 miles north of Hollywood.

The imposing stone structure, complete with moat and ramparts, was built in 1928, allegedly at a cost of $300,000 by an oil man whose architect tried to improve on Blarney Castle in Ireland. There are 25 rooms in the castle. The ranch has 22 live, all-year springs, and includes 100 level acres with an airplane landing strip. The woven and wire fence is valued at $110,000.

It's available for occupancy immediately after this week's Bat Masterson show. Only $87,000 down.

The Paradoxes Of Relativity

Anthologies of light verse all include the famous limerick which goes:

*There was a young lady from Bright,
Who could travel faster than light.
She set out one day
In a relative way
And returned home the previous night.*

Usually the limerick is attributed to that famous author "Anon." Actually it was written by Professor A. H. R. Buller who was for many years head of the department of botany at the University of Manitoba and the world's leading authority on fungi. It was first published in Punch.

Prof. Buller is also the author of the limerick which goes:

*There once was a fellow called
Aston
Who lived at or near to Edgbaston.
Isotopes were his game,
And through them his name
Will last on when Aston has passed on.*

(Francis William Aston, once a lecturer in physics at the University of Birmingham at Edgbaston—Buller's alma mater—received the Nobel Prize in 1922 for his work with isotopes.)

The first of these two limericks will be the starting point for Drs. Donald Ivey and Patterson Hume, University of Toronto physicists, on their program Two For Physics this Tuesday night on CBC-TV. They will discuss some more of the paradoxes of relativity and the reasons for them.

Spotlight on Manitoba Town

This Tuesday a retired Morden dentist and his wife will tell CBC Winnipeg announcer Maurice Burchell about their home town on Spotlight.

It is the fifth in the series of filmed interviews intended to help Manitobans within range of CBWT become more familiar with their province. (Some of the interviews will not be seen in the towns where they were filmed.)

Coming up in the series are interviews with community leaders in Virden, Ninette, Souris, Minnedosa, and Russell. Interviews filmed in Swan River, Melita, Vita, and Killarney have already been presented on the Spotlight series.

Spotlight producer Ted Benoit will be interviewed Monday, Aug. 3 on Scan.

Albert's Place

With Albert and puppet and his friends Bob Clothier, John Chappell and Nonie Stewart.

Rope Around the Sun

Songs and stories of the Old West, with Canada's cowboy troubadour Stu Davis. Today Stu's story is about a typical country fair and a Scottish cowboy who plays his bagpipes and drowns out all the speakers and singers at the fair. Production—Jean Mackay; script—Kerry Wood of Red Deer, Alberta. From Winnipeg.

Huckleberry Hound

This week—"Baffled Bear." Yogi Bear hibernates in a hollow tree in a dense forest. When he wakes up he finds that the forest has been cleared by bulldozers. His tree is the only one left and it is in the middle of a super-highway.

Walt Disney Presents

This week—"Law and Order, Inc."

Live a Borrowed Life

Guest panelist this week is Toronto attorney Royce Frith, who joins regulars Anna Cameron, Bill Walker, and Elwyn Yost as they try to identify the famous characters portrayed by contestants. Charles Templeton is moderator. From Toronto.

Music Hall

With English comedian-singer Dave King, Vic Schoen's orchestra, the Bill Foster Dancers, and this week's special guest—Carol Lawrence. Chicago-born, Miss Lawrence started her career at the age of seven in a local dance studio. She continued in the entertainment field while attending Northwestern University on scholarship. In the summer of 1951 she attended a call for "Showbusiness" as a spectator, and wound up in the cast as a featured dancer. She later went on to leading roles in summer stock in Chicago, and is now featured on the stage and on the leading TV shows. Her most recent success was in the Broadway dance-musical "West Side Story."

Bat Masterson

Western series starring Gene Barry. This week—"The Treasure of Worry Hill," the story of three people who don't trust each other and are willed a third of a map each. The map, pieced together, leads to a buried treasure. For ten per cent of the fortune, Masterson agrees to be keeper of the entire map.

Close-Up

This week—Close-Up on Egypt, with Pierre Berton. In this special one-hour edition Berton brings Nasser-land back alive by means of the same techniques of candid commentary, interviews, and photography which highlighted his earlier Close-Up on Moscow.

Doc Holliday." Wyatt's efforts to track down Wells Fargo stagecoach robbers put him in a position where the townspeople think Doc Holliday is making a fool of him.

Loretta Young

This week—"A Dollar's Worth." A hotel manicurist's love for her fatherless daughter forces her to choose between financial security for her daughter and happiness for herself.

Explorations

This week—the first of four BBC-produced "Portraits of Power." Subject is Nikita Khrushchev. The program covers his career from the 1930's when he was Communist Party boss in Moscow, and continues until his consolidation of power as Prime Minister of the Council of Ministers and Secretary-General of the Communist party. (See story page 5).

Playbill

"Father to the Man," by William Brown. The action takes place in the home of George Fowler, a peevish discontented man. His wife, Mary, tired and disillusioned has lost all sympathy with her husband but protects and deeply loves her two children, a boy and a girl in their teens. The story unfolds at a time when the family and particularly George is being tormented by a prowler who constantly irritates them by performing malicious pranks. The story also reveals the ambitions that the father holds for his daughter. Jack Phillips, producer. From Winnipeg.

Tito's relations with Russia are still uneasy; he is still a heretic.

Mao Tse-Tung was also heretic—was, because his insistence that the Chinese peasantry, not the proletariat as in Russia, must be the basis of the revolution, has now passed into orthodoxy. Like all the major Communist revolutionaries, Mao possesses immense patience and courage and ruthlessness. "A revolution does not march in a straight line. It wanders where it can, retreats before superior forces, advances where it has room, and is possessed of enormous patience."

The portrait of Mao tells of the days when he lived in a cave with only two pairs of trousers to his name. American newsman Edgar Snow, first foreign correspondent to meet Mao, describes those early days. His interview took place in 1936 in Mao's headquarters in the mountains. Swiss journalist Walter Bosshard, who met Mao at Yecan in 1938, also contributes to the program which has 22 of its 30 minutes in rarely seen film of the mysterious chief man of Communist China.

Lloyd George's political career falls into four sections. From 1890 to about 1905 Welsh nationalism led him to a pro-Boer position which in turn allied him with various liberal and radical movements.

This reforming period lasted roughly from 1900 to 1914. Perhaps his most important role here was the influence he wielded in cutting the power of the House of Lords when that institution held up his Budget of 1910. He also instituted the National Insurance Act, forbear to the Welfare State.

From 1914 to 1922 Lloyd George was the great wartime leader and postwar diplomat (despite the fact that at an earlier stage of his career he was something of a pacifist). In 1921, he signed a treaty with the Irish Sinn Feiners. This lost a great deal of support for the coalition government he headed and the coalition collapsed. From then, till two months before he died in 1945, Lloyd George retained his seat in the House of Commons though he never again held office. One can speculate whether and how his three companions in these Portraits of Power will lose their political power.

Long Shot

• Where has Long Shot been all my life? It is interesting, off-beat, and above all, amusing. Congratulations to the CBC.—Garwin Hyatt, Winnipeg.

• Nothing could be worse than Long Shot. Let's all work together to see how quickly we are able to remove it from the air.—Mrs. V. R. B., St. Boniface, Man.

Good Music

• I am writing you to acknowledge some pleasant hours listening to the CBC while motoring through Manitoba a week ago. I know that you must receive lots of criticism for your policy of broadcasting good music, but I want you to know that rarely has it been my experience in the States to hear so much good music so well selected, so well edited, and so well explained as I heard during the few days I was in Canada. In one day alone I think we heard more good music from Winnipeg than in the entire two-week motoring trip we made to the East in the States two years ago. It was just a pure delight, and you should be encouraged to continue your fine policy. Thanks again.—Frank P. Bourgin, Virginia, Minnesota.

• Please tell me why we don't get American Bandstand on TV. Over 40 million people watch this program in the U.S.A. and Canada, so it must be a very good program. Hardly anybody like classical music. It is ridiculous.—G. P., Winnipeg.

• The only fault I find with CBC is that you have, in your effort to please all types, put on western music and jazz. I think there is so much of that on other stations that CBC could well leave it to them.—Mrs. M. E. B., Edmonton.

Repeats

• I was surprised when not one of those interviewed on Scan July 6 objected to the continual repeats we have had for a great number of weeks now. On Scan the previous week we were given to believe that the producers were very busy. But of the programs we have been receiving very few have been new. We are not being entertained by repeat performances. The Desilu programs for several weeks now have been "Encores"—another way of saying the same thing. Close-Up is enjoyable, but even with it you had a repeat of The Trail of '98.—Mrs. I. L., Winnipeg.

CBC programs are repeated only when there is a large public demand for a second showing—such as there was for Elaine Grand's interview with Bertrand Russell on "Close-Up," and "The Trail of '98" on "CBC Folio" (not "Close-Up"). American-produced programs (like "Desilu Play- house") are sold as a "package," and the purchaser must be willing to accept a number of repeats. (CBC will not accept a "package" that contains too many.) The actual reason for repeats in the U.S.-produced series is rather complicated: Programs are usually scheduled for 52 weeks, but American producers are contracted for 13-week periods and they do not work (at actual production of programs) the entire 52 weeks each year. The usual producer's contract is three-quarters—39 weeks. The networks, in choosing repeats, make every effort to schedule those programs which have been the most popular of the series.

FRIDAY TV NOTES

"Animal, Vegetable, Mineral." From Toronto.

Don Messer Show

With fiddler Don Messer, The Islanders (Rae Simmons, Waldo Munro, Cec MacEachern, Duke Nielsen and Warren MacRae), the Buchta Dancers, and vocalists Charlie Chamberlain and Marg Osburne. Guests this week are Marlene Weatherbee, step dancer from Charlottetown, P.E.I., and George Longard, vocalist from Halifax. Messer will fiddle "Soldier's Joy," the Buchta Dancers will do "Buffalo Gals," Charlie Chamberlain will sing "Nothing Like the Smile of the Irish," and Marg Osburne will sing the "Metro Polka." Emcee is Don Tremaine. From Halifax. (See page 3).

SATURDAY TV NOTES

Walker, Alan Millar and the Rhythm Pals.

Perry Presents

Music and comedy with Tony Bennett, Jaye P. Morgan and the Mod-ernaires.

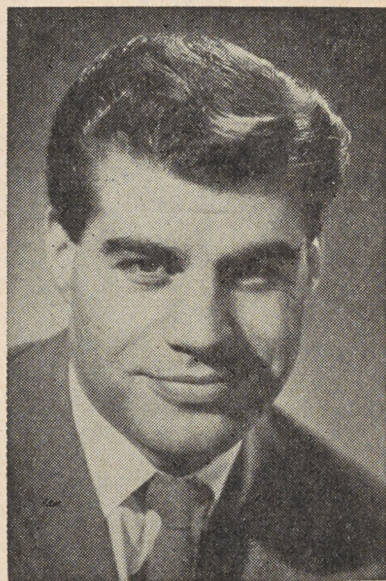

Naked City

This week—"Stakeout." Dan Muldoon sets a trap in a fur warehouse to catch the three thieves who murdered his friend Lieut. Ben Reilly.

Great Movies

"Princess O'Rourke," starring Olivia De Havilland, Robert Cummings, Charles Coburne, Jack Carson, Jane

Wyman, Gladys Cooper and Harry Davenport. The film was made in 1943, written and directed by Norman Krasna, who received an Oscar for it as the best original screen play of the year. It is the story of a refugee princess living in the United States during the Second World War, who falls in love with an airline pilot. They are married in the White House with the President supposedly looking on.

GEOFF HOGWOOD

CBC Montreal announcer, has been chosen as narrator for "Royal River," the National Film Board's pictorial record of the trip by Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip along the St. Lawrence waterway this summer. The film will be distributed throughout the world by 20th Century-Fox Corporation.

MUSIC ON RADIO

By FRANK HAWORTH
of Toronto

Although Handel was contemporary with Bach, and lived in the golden age of organ composition, we do not usually think of him as an organ composer, his fame as a performer on that instrument notwithstanding. Unlike Bach, he does not seem to have been particularly drawn to it as a medium of creative expression. Perhaps this is because, as has been speculated, the organs of that day in England (where he spent the greater part of his productive life) did not normally have pedals, and he may have considered this a limitation. Those works that he did write for it were apparently intended to be of a comparatively "light" character, since they were designed to be played during the intermissions in performances of his oratorios—presumably as "relief."

These concertos for organ and strings, nevertheless, are fine works, full of Handelian elegance and suavity. We are to hear two of them this week, in the Western Artists concert on Monday night, when Gerald Bales of Calgary will play Nos. 2 and 4 with a chamber orchestra conducted by Eric Wild in Winnipeg.

Handel's example in writing them has not been very widely followed. Organ concertos are still comparatively few, which is, perhaps, rather a pity. It is true that many musicians dislike the combination of orchestral—and especially string—tone with organ tone; and certainly one does hear such works played with registrations that can hardly be described as felicitous. There are practical difficulties, too; places where orchestras customarily perform do not always house organs as well. Still, one would think that these limitations would be outweighed by the great virtue of such a grouping—that of contrast. After all, the basic conception of the concerto form revolves round the contrast between various sources of sound; and one can scarcely think of sound qualities as distinct as those of organ and stringed instruments. Perhaps a new approach is called for—a new principle of construction; and some future master, with a flair for instrumental potentialities, may evolve an ideal style and method of treatment that will give the organ concerto a new lease of life.

This same important element of contrast is the chief merit of the wind quintet, examples of music for which we are to hear in Sunday morning's Chamber Music program, presented by the CBC Woodwind Ensemble. Flute (played on this occasion by Gordon Day), oboe (Perry Bauman), clarinet (Abe Galper), bassoon (Nicholas Kilburn) and French horn (Eugene Rittich) display contrasting tonal qualities; the thin but bland sound of the flute contrasts with the thin but sharp sound of the oboe and bassoon, the richer and darker quality of the clarinet is a foil to both, while the broad, mellow and somewhat veiled tone of the horn blends and unites them all in a tapestry of musical colour. Sunday's group is to play the Variations on a Free Theme, and Scherzo for Wind Quintet, by Eugene Bozza, whose chief claim to fame this work appears to be, and a Pastorale by Vincent Perischetti, rising American composer.

On CBC Concert Hall, on Friday evening, Calgary-born pianist Carline Carr plays music by Schumann—the C major Arabesque and the Etudes Symphoniques, the theme of which recalls, in its origin, an early romance of the composer. More than that of most other people, Schumann's music reflects and enshrines his direct experiences and thoughts.

Isabel van Bassenheim, in the Sunday Morning Recital, plays some little-known piano music, of Hispanic provenance, including a Coral, Interludio y Fuga, by Carlos Tuxen Bang, a Toccata, by Arizah, and a Sonata by Alberto Ginastera, an Argentinian composer noted for his use of national elements in his music.

A swim seems to bring out the uninhibited virile side of men; immediately they come out from the water, dripping and extremely unattractive they engage in tough games of cricket or football or catch-as-catch-can, and chase their screaming girl friends with handfuls of wet seaweed or a crab. Dogs, too, seem to change their personalities at the seaside. I think they probably lap sea water and go slightly mad.—Mrs. Ba day the well-known English comedienne Joyce Grenfell talks about the need for periods of quiet, the art of finding quiet, and the way in which to use it. The recording was obtained for Matinee by the BBC.

So Many Questions. Parents often become exasperated at the questions their children ask, although they usually try their best to answer them. Jacqueline Berrill of Montreal did better than that. She turned her children's questions into a book, "1,001 Questions Answered About the Seashore," which she wrote with the help of her husband, professor of marine zoology at McGill University. Today Edna May, CBC morning commentator in Toronto, interviews Mrs. Berrill.

Bathrooms as a Way of Life. The word bathroom usually implies chrome and glass hygiene and efficiency. But not to everybody. Some romantic should think of bathrooms in terms of red turkey carpets, book-lined walls, heavily draped windows and a harpsichord. Alisdair McKichan was one of these until he was married a year ago. He now lives in an apartment that has an up-to-date, efficient hygienic bathroom. Mr. McKichan is a Scottish-born Winnipeg lawyer who has been heard in talks and drama programs from CBC Winnipeg.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Margaret Prang of Vancouver. Toronto baritone Charles Jordan will supply today's music, and Vancouver actor Ian Thorne begins the reading of Grahame Greene's "Journey Without Maps," adapted

POST-NEWS TALK

"An Iconoclast in London." Paul Fox of the department of political science at the University of Toronto recently visited London after an absence of seven years. He thinks that American influence is changing London—and for the worse. In tonight's talk he will tell of some of the changes he found in the British capital: the introduction of American ways, of his disillusionment with the Mother of Parliament, and what he feels is pure tinsel in the London theatre.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

What's New? This week—"What's New in Manitoba?" Jean Sangwine of Winnipeg interviews two of the women responsible for a chartered co-operative kindergarten in Souris, Manitoba.

Lies, Fibs and Tall Tales. Telling lies is something that everyone does at one time or another. Women tell more lies than men, but women's lies are usually of the "little white" variety, and men's more serious. Renate Wilson of Vancouver goes into the art of untruth-telling in this Matinee talk.

Marital Maladjustments. Marlene Hunter, a Vancouver housewife, always thought afternoon naps were for people over 90 and under 3. She found out differently three days after she was married, when she and her husband had an afternoon off and were trying to decide what to do. "I'm going to take a nap," said Mr. Hunter. Which proves, in Mrs. Hunter's mind at least, that not all marital differences have their origin in finances, sex, religion, or spankings for the children.

Women of Science. Today, in the fourth of her eight talks about famous women scientists, Mattie Rotenberg of Toronto talks about Dr. Helen Tausig, associate professor of pediatrics and director of the children's cardiac clinic at John's Hopkins University medical school in Baltimore. Mrs. Rotenberg is a lecturer in physics at the University of Toronto.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Muriel Armstrong of Montreal. Jacques Desbaillets plays some more of his favourite recordings, and Ian Thorne of Vancouver reads another excerpt from "Journey Without Maps," by Grahame Greene, adapted for radio by Sally Creighton. CBW-3:33 p.m. CBK-3:33 p.m. CBX-2:33 p.m.

POST-NEWS TALK

"A Land That Cured Itself of Labour Strikes." Robson Black, past-president of the Canadian Forestry Association, visited Sweden this summer, and while there he attended a session of the Labour Court at which disputes between union and management are most often settled amicably.

PRAIRIE ARTISTS

folk songs on Performer's Showcase.

Prairie artists who will be heard on subsequent weeks are pianist Robert Picard of Edmonton (August 9), pianist Jean-Pierre Vetter of Edmonton (August 16), and mezzo-soprano Rolande Garnier of St. Boniface (August 23).

The recitals are heard Sunday nights at 9:30 p.m. on CKSB (St. Boniface), 8:30 p.m. on CFNS (Saskatoon) and CFRG (Gravelbourg), and 7:30 p.m. on CHFA (Edmonton). The programs from the CBC's Winnipeg studios are produced by Léo Rémillard and announced by Denis Belair. The programs from the CBC's Edmonton studios are produced by Hubert Mayes and announced by Jacques Boucher of CHFA.

Mr. Black contends that Sweden's strike-free record is an impressive one compared with those of Canada and the United States.

CBW-9:20 p.m. CBK-8:20 p.m. CBX-7:20 p.m.

VOICES OF THE PAST

Readings prepared and introduced by Ronald Hambleton; readings from literature pertaining to a chosen subject. This week—"The Mighty Dead," notes written about Mary Queen of Scots, Elizabeth I, Balzac and Heracitus.

tainly gained in stature as a composer since I heard anything of his, and this work may become very popular indeed. It is tuneful, easy to listen to and well written for the violin.

In London, Malcolm Arnold has achieved yet another success with his Five William Blake Songs for contralto and strings with poems taken from Blake's early Poetical Sketches. This proved to be eminently sane and well written for all concerned, and showed us Arnold in quite a different mood.

At Covent Garden, Joan Sutherland, who scored so heavily at Vancouver last summer in Don Giovanni, has repeated her astonishing Lucia, and, just to show her versatility, brought the house down in Handel's Rodelinda the previous week at Sadlers Wells. Rodelinda and Semele were both given as part of the Handel celebrations and proved revelations to everyone. How such music could have been more or less forgotten for so many years will always remain one of life's major mysteries.

Regina Reznik is still giving her Carmen that we know so well in Toronto and has broadened and improved her reading enormously. James Milligan was, by general consent, rather miscast as Escamillo.

I've learned that the happy people are the people who like doing what they have to do. I love my job, and to young people I would say, choose carefully even if it takes you a year or so, and don't let them shove you into Dad's office unless you want to go. And don't decide in one evening what you're going to do for the next fifty years.—Rev. Dr. Leslie Weatherhead, on BBC.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

Catalogues. Heat getting you down? On the farm that's when the fall and winter catalogues start coming in. It's better than air-conditioning to leaf through the catalogue pages marveling at the women bundled up in their furs and boots and at the fellows cavorting around in their long underwear. Jean Tweed who lives on a farm near Toronto with her husband (actor Tommy Tweed) and their two children tells about it today.

Ghost Town Revived. Seventy-five years ago Tilt Cove, Newfoundland, was a thriving copper mining town of about 2,500 souls. After a few years the mines closed, and not long after that all that remained of Tilt Cove was four families, a cemetery, and a dilapidated church. Now Tilt Cove has come to life again, the mines have reopened, and people are returning. Jessie Mifflin, a librarian in St. John's, tells the story of the revivification of a ghost town.

Three Score Years and Then? When a married couple's family is grown and settled outside the family home, and the head of the household retires on a pension, the family home often becomes too large or uneconomical. What are the older people to do? This is just one of the problems that face the older member of society in his readjustment to living. In the fourth of her series on aging, Betty Mascall discusses living arrangements and independence with security, and talks about the different experiences that older people have had.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Margaret Prang of Vancouver. Toronto baritone Charles Jordan will supply today's music, and Vancouver actor Ian Thorne reads another excerpt from "Journey Without Maps," by Grahame Greene, adapted for radio by Sally Creighton. TRACKS IN THE SNOW

Canadian poet and anthologist Ralph Gustafson attempts to discover

Tracks in The Snow

A search for Canadian identity in Canadian poetry

"Is there a spiritual identity, a climate, distinctive and pervading, of which a Canadian feels himself a part?"

Canadian poetry anthologist Ralph Gustafson searches for our identity and finds his answers in our poetry this week on CBC Wednesday Night.

In a half-hour talk, Tracks in the Snow, Gustafson says that it is not enough to be born into a political or geographic region and take that as your answer. Canadians from Cobalt, he says wittily, are not necessarily colourful, and Canadians from Climax aren't always demonstrative. We can't get our answers out of the atlas. But we can, he feels, get our answers from the works of Earle Birney, E. J. Pratt, Charles Bruce, F. R. Scott, Irving Layton, Louis Dudek, A. M. Klein, R. G. Everdon, Anne Wilkinson, Ronald Hambleton, P. K. Page and R. A. D. Ford. Lines from each of these Canadian poets are read on the program by John Grenfell.

Gustafson covers a lot of ground in his poetic search for our national character, and he gleans many answers as he discovers different facets of our nature revealed in Canadian poetry. The qualities, he concludes, all add up to the word "northern." There are many who would say this is an obvious conclusion to come to—why not open an atlas? Ralph Gustafson maintains that "an atlas gives us position; the poetry gives us location."

Ralph Gustafson was born in the Province of Quebec, educated the Canadian "identity" through its poetry. See story this page.

in Canada and England, and now lives in New York. His own poetry has been published widely in Canada but he is known especially for his anthologies. His first Anthology of Canadian Poetry was published in 1942; his latest one, a completely revised, updated and more comprehensive anthology, came out this past year.

Tracks in the Snow will be produced by Herbert Steinhouse of the CBC Talks and Public Affairs Department in Montreal.

DRAMA IN SOUND

"A Death in the Blackout," a murder mystery by Mary Fitt, adapted for radio by Don McGill (originally scheduled for July 14 and then for July 28 and postponed on both dates). The play tells how a country doctor systematically eliminates the irrelevant facts surrounding a murder which takes place during a World War II blackout in order to establish the significant clues which lead to the solution of the mystery. Rupert Caplan, producer. From Mon-

Margaret Brown

Thursday on "Prairie Playhouse"

"Drive-In"

by ALFRED HARRIS

A suspense story about an escaped convict who seeks refuge in a road-house operated by two young women.

Starring

MARGARET BROWN LOUISE ADAMS
DAVE ROBERTSON

trear. (Rebroadcast from last Tuesday night).

CBW-2:30 p.m. CBK-2:30 p.m. CBK-1:30 p.m.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

Canned Nature. If there aren't enough meadow-larks singing outside your windows, you can stimulate the sound by purchasing recordings of bird songs. Today, Alberta naturalist Kerry Wood talks about the merits of various recordings and reminds his listeners that there are some bird songs, such as the trill of the thrush, that can't be duplicated and must be heard in their proper surroundings to be fully appreciated.

Carpentry Classes at Oakalla. There are reported to be women who make coffee tables, sewing tables, ironing boards, stairways, beds and desks. Where are they? At Oakalla prison for women in British Columbia. Today, Vancouver freelance broadcaster and writer Grace Shaw takes her tape-recorder to Oakalla and gives a sights-and-sounds report of a very successful rehabilitation program for women offenders.

Gopher Lore on the Prairies. Now that relatively dry weather has returned to the Saskatchewan plains, one of that country's favorite inhabitants, the gopher, has also returned. Jean Hinds, CBC morning commentator in Saskatchewan, recalls nostalgically the days when a schoolboy's favorite occupation was drowning, snaring and cutting the tails from, gophers, and the monetary rewards therefrom, sometimes, again and again for the same gopher.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Muriel Armstrong of Montreal. Jacques Desbaillets plays some more of his favourite recordings, and Ian Thorne of Vancouver reads another excerpt from "Journey Without Maps," by Grahame Greene, adapted for radio by Sally Creighton.

CBW-3:33 p.m. CBK-3:33 p.m. CBX-2:33 p.m.

FOOTLOOSE

This week—Footloose in the Leeward Islands with Babs Brown. Mrs. Brown has been to many countries for her CBC radio programs, but of them all she says she is most fond of the West Indies, particularly the Leeward Islands. (See story this page).

PRAIRIE PLAYHOUSE

Alfred Harris

This week — "Drive In," by Alfred Harris. A suspense story about an escaped convict who strikes terror into the hearts of a pair of young women when he enters their road-house in an attempt to escape from the police.

Originally heard on the "Death Has a Thousand Doors" series. Fred Laight, producer. From Winnipeg.

Footloose in the Leeward Islands

In this week's Footloose, free-lancer Babs Brown visits the Leeward Islands. Mrs. Brown has been to Hawaii, Mexico, Greece and many other countries for her various CBC radio programs, but of them all she is most fond of the West Indies, particularly the Leeward Islands.

It was back in 1622 that Sir Thomas Warner surveyed St. Christopher (popularly known now as St. Kitts) in the West Indies as a possible field for tobacco growing. He returned in 1625 to found the first definitive settlement, which he consented to share with the French. From St. Christopher, English colonists set out to found Nevis in 1628, Antigua and Montserrat in 1632, and Anguilla in 1650. Thus were founded the Leeward Islands settlements.

Six Months After. Six months ago, the defence department cancelled

Friday on "CBC Concert Hall"Carlina Carr, pianist

Etudes Symphoniques, Op. 13 Schumann
 Arabesque in C Major, Op. 18 Schumann

Calgary-born Carlina Carr studied in Canada and on scholarship at the Royal Academy of Music in London, England. Tonight's recital comes from Toronto.

produced the Arrow jet interceptor. At many aircraft workers at Avio's Malton plant became suddenly unemployed. At that time, Joan Seager, wife of one of the unemployed workers, reported to Matinee's listeners on the impact to her family. Now, Mrs. Seager brings listeners up-to-date on what has happened to those who became unemployed last March. She is a housewife, writer and broadcaster.

A Book I Like. "Anne of Green Gables" is a book that for generations has been a favourite with children, especially with girls, who identify themselves with its heroine and share Anne's adventures, sorrows and romances. Kay Jones of Montreal talks about the book and its author in the tenth of Matinee's summer book series.

Sing Me a Game. Second in popularity to skipping songs are the songs little girls chant as they bounce balls on sidewalks, roadways, or indoors. Often these songs involve counting, and sometimes gymnastics as well. Today Edith Fowke lets listeners hear some of the songs children sing as they bounce balls, and play games that involve clapping their hands in time to their songs.

Daily Features . . . Today's news commentary is by Margaret Prang of Vancouver. Toronto baritone Charles Jordan will supply today's music, and Vancouver actor Ian Thorne reads another excerpt from "Journey Without Maps," by Grahame Greene, adapted for radio by Sally Creighton.
